

APPENDICES

APPENDIX-I

Rules for the Conservancy of forests and jungles in the hill districts of the Punjab Territories, 1885.

(Sanctioned by the Governor of India, No. 1789, dated 21st May, 1885)

1. In any hill district within British jurisdiction, the Civil authorities have power to mark off any tract, plot, or ground, wheresoever situated, which they may consider to be specially adapted for the growth of timber or fuel.
2. The tract, plot or ground so marked off may be declared to be a public preserve denoted by boundary marks, fenced and protected from trespass of all kinds. Within it the said authorities are empowered to prohibit, restrict, or regulate all felling and cutting and to arrange for the development, preservation, and growth of trees, shrubs or brushwood in such manner as may seem to them expedient.
3. The said authorities within the said limits are also competent to grant to any party privileges of cutting or felling, and to demand and receive fees from such party, and to determine the amount or rate of the fees.
4. Within the said hill districts, the Civil authorities may proclaim publicly, prohibition, restriction, or regulation in regard to the felling or cutting, or other injurious act for any purpose whatsoever it may be found growing, of whatever size or growth, whether grouped together or scattered about, which they may consider specially suited for the production of timber or fuel.
5. The said authorities in regard to the said species of trees, shrubs, or brushwood, may grant privileges of felling or cutting to such parties as they may think proper with or without the payment of fees, to be fixed as declared in Rule 3.
6. No person shall be entitled to object to the foregoing rules whether relating to enclosures or to particular species or trees, shrubs, or brushwood on the score of proprietary or not interfere with the wood or fuel that may be really required by the occupants or owners of the land for agricultural or domestic purposes.
7. With the proviso above described, the Civil authorities within the said hill districts may prohibit, restrict, or regulate any operation which they may consider calculated to destroy or injure existing supplies
8. The setting fire to forest grass, brushwood, or other combustible substances in a manner calculated to destroy or injure existing supplies of timber or fuel, may be absolutely forbidden.
9. The villagers, the owners and occupants of the and may be rendered responsible for conflagration occurring within their bounds, whether accidental or not, or by whomsoever caused, and such owner, occupant, or villager, may in this case be treated as if he had been guilty of an infraction of the rules.
10. The grazing of cattle or domestic animals of all kinds in such places or with such license as may be, in the opinion of the Civil authorities, injurious to existing supplies of timber or fuel, may be prohibited, restricted, or regulated in such manner as may be deemed expedient: Provided always that the proper grounds for the grazing or pasturing of such cattle be not interfered with.

11. The owner or possessor of cattle which may be found grazing or pasturing in contravention of the foregoing rules, or in public preserves, or in other forbidden, ground, may be treated as if he had been guilty of an infraction of the rules.
12. Any person who may infringe any of the above rules for the conservancy of forest and jungle may be fined at the discretion of the Civil authority to an amount not exceeding Rs. 100 for each offence; such fine may be realized by sale of personal property; and in the event of non-realization, the offender may be imprisoned for a term not exceeding three months.
